

As one of our "inalienable rights", we should continue to have "FREEDOM OF CHOICE" when there IS a choice. Internet coverage is one of those "necessary evils" in our lives today. Since we need this service, we should have the freedom to decide WHO provides this service. This goes back to the principle of not allowing monopolies to control us. If a group is doing business according to the law, they shouldn't be prohibited from continuing. I say if we're HAPPY with our current business provider, let them continue.
